The Finest Native American Instructors & Skilled Parliamentarians

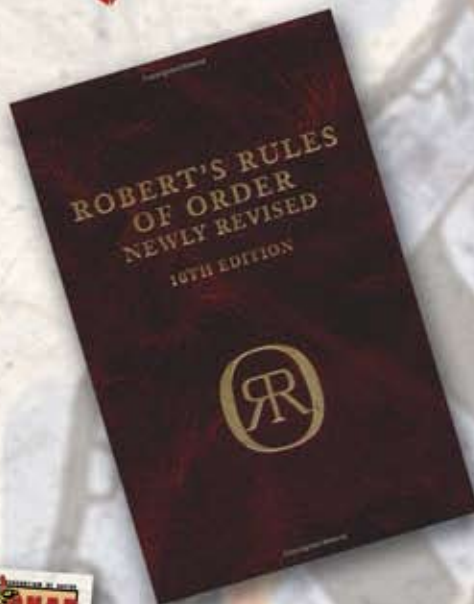

Kathryn Mills, CEO of DCI America conceived the Consortium of Native American Parliamentarians (CNAP) in 1998. The whole idea of CNAP was to give tribal organizations an opportunity to train and certify those persons that qualify not just as parliamentarians, but also as parliamentarians who are educated and sensitive to native cultures.

Although all persons are eligible for membership into the CNAP, it is designed to benefit those persons who work for a tribal organization, or are themselves, Native Americans. Membership requires passing a 100-question test ($125), and the first year annual membership dues payment of $50.00. A passing grade of 80 is required for entry into the CNAP as a certified Parliamentarian.

The CNAP uses the Robert's Rules of Order, Tenth Edition Book, as our standard text for study. However, questions on our tests are designed specifically for Native American organizations and training by DCI is a giant first step to mastering the necessary skills. The tests are challenging, yet fair. They represent DCI's extensive experience in working with tribal organizations throughout the United States and Canada. After six months of membership, members are then entitled to take the more difficult test for the title of Professional Parliamentarian. A passing grade of 80 is required to earn the title.

Looking for more ?

CNAP members are eligible to schedule advanced testing ($125) to achieve status as a Professional Parliamentarian within your tribal organization. Those pursuing this path will gain a deeper understanding of parliamentary law.

Perhaps your membership has elapsed ?

Annual membership renewals are just $50.

In addition to administering CNAP testing and certification, DCI America also offers: a public session schedule, customized on-site training, session hosting, retreats, sessions for your conventions, conferences, and board meetings, enrollment audits, and more . . .
